

Dear Princetonian,

On behalf of the Alumni Association of Princeton University, welcome back to Old Nassau and Reunions 2010. In these pages, you will find a full weekend of programs and activities, from Alumni-Faculty Forums and career workshops to class and departmental panels and receptions, and even a Singles Mingle. If music is your passion, stop by the Reunions headquarters sites each evening for great entertainment, stroll over to the arches around campus to hear Princeton's a cappella groups perform, or spend Friday afternoon listening to bands from the past compete in the third annual "Alumni Battle of the Bands" behind the Frist Campus Center. And, of course, you won't want to miss the P-rade on Saturday afternoon or Princeton's spectacular lawn concert and fireworks on Saturday evening.

We hope that you will take this time to reconnect with old friends and meet new ones, engage your mind, enjoy the beautiful Princeton campus, and rediscover why Princeton really is "the best old place of all."

Have a wonderful weekend.

A Brief History of Princeton Reunions and the P-rade

All colleges encourage their graduates to maintain and demonstrate loyalty to their alma mater through return visits. However, no other institution welcomes all of its alumni and their families back for reunions on a yearly basis with the style and fanfare that is uniquely Princeton. Here is a short history of this ever-evolving annual tradition.

In the College of New Jersey's early years, alumni regularly returned to campus to attend Commencement exercises. Its 100th Commencement in June 1847 drew an impressive 700 graduates for a formal dinner, escalating the tradition into a larger event. Until 1859, all alumni gathered together, but in that year, Alfred Woodhull, Class of 1856, organized the first "class" reunion, a triennial. He astutely surmised reasonable attendance could be expected, because in that era, anyone who returned to campus for Commencement three years after graduation qualified for an automatic master's degree (a practice lasting until 1892).

In 1861, a regiment bound for battle in the Civil War passing through Princeton captivated the College's students with its "skyrocket" cheer, which imitated the sound of fireworks—"sis" for the zooming rocket; "boom" for the explosion; and "ahhhh" as the crowd expressed its pleasure for the resulting light show. At Princeton, the "sis, boom, ah" skyrocket cheer evolved into Princeton's "locomotive," where word repetition and increasing speed emulates the sound of a train pulling out from a station. "Tiger" was likely added to the cheer in the late 19th century, when athletic uniforms began consistently using orange and black.

The P-rade officially began in the late 1890s but is actually the merged product of earlier traditions. Beginning in the Civil War era, alumni formally processed to Commencement Day dinner meetings. Then in 1888, Princeton and Yale University began scheduling one of their baseball games at Princeton on the Saturday before Commencement. Since this coincided with class dinners, alumni attendance was high and many classes formally marched to the game at University Field (located at the corner of Prospect Avenue and Olden Street). In October 1896, when the newly renamed Princeton University celebrated its sesquicentennial (150th anniversary), 800 Princeton undergraduates and 2,000 alumni took part in a mile-long procession through the campus and town; most carried an orange torch or lantern, and many classes wore coordinated costumes. Stimulated by the grandeur and organization of this parade, in 1897 all returning classes first joined to march in order to the baseball game. By 1906, a written description of the annual event said, "The Alumni Pee-rade on Saturday afternoon was quite as spectacular as usual; the bands, banners, transparencies, uniforms, and vaudeville features encircling University Field with color and noise.”

During early P-rades, the sole decoration worn by returning alumni was a small badge with class numerals on it. Gradually, classes began to distinguish themselves with creative hats, balloons, and parasols; before long, younger classes wore colorful costumes, carried humorous signs, and often performed comic stunts. In 1912, some of that year’s graduating class dressed in blue denim overalls and jackets to protect their regular clothes from spilled beer stains. One year later, the Class of 1913 adopted white beer jackets as their costume. By 1920, the jackets became a tradition with the addition of unique class logos. To this day, each graduating class designs its own class jacket, worn for the first time during Reunions weekend. Classes typically design new costumes for each “major” quinquennial reunion up until the 25th, when they receive a class blazer.

Reunions were cancelled in 1917 and 1918 for World War I, so the “Victory Commencement” of 1919 featured a throng of 5,000 alumni for the largest Reunions and P-rade yet. An even longer “Victory Reunion” P-rade in 1946 following World War II (and the cancelled Reunions of 1943, 1944, and 1945) brought back 7,300 alumni, with each class carrying service flags showing the number of classmates who served and were killed in the war.

In 1947, the Class of 1922 held its 25th Reunion in Holder Hall Courtyard, becoming the first on-campus reunion site. (Previous reunions were held in private homes and rented spaces in town.) But it was not until 1952 that liquor was permitted to be served at the on-campus sites.

Rain has put the occasional damper on the P-rade but only once—in 1953—did it force a cancellation. Even then, some classes insisted on marching anyway! Over time, P-rades and Reunions increasingly became a family affair, but it was not until the undergraduate body became coeducational in 1969 that women were officially welcome to participate in the P-rade.

From the early- to mid-20th century, the P-rade route began at Nassau Hall, moved across campus to 1879 Arch, then down Prospect Avenue and around University Field to pass the president in his reviewing box. Construction of the EQUad on the site of University Field in the late 1960s changed the end of the route to the new Clarke Field south of Ivy Lane. This era also marked the last Yale-Princeton Commencement baseball game (1966), so the P-rade ending changed to an Alumni Association meeting welcoming the graduating seniors into the alumni body. In the early 1990s, the route was altered again to keep the P-rade entirely on campus—beginning at FitzRandolph Gate, going around Nassau Hall and Cannon Green, then down Elm Drive to finish on Poe Field.

Despite route changes, procession order remains traditional. At 2:00 PM on Reunions Saturday, the Nassau Hall bell tolls and the P-rade Grand Marshal and other dignitaries (including the University president) lead members of the 25th Reunion Class from front campus to Poe Field. The classes then process in descending class order, beginning with the “Old Guard” (classes beyond the 65th Reunion) who ride in golf carts or occasionally walk, always drawing the loudest cheers from spectators. In recognition for his commitment to Reunions, the eldest returning alumnus has the special privilege of carrying the Class of 1923 Cane—a black wooden staff topped by a leaping silver tiger. Graduate alumni march between the 24th and 26th reunion classes. Throughout, dedicated alumni known as Marshals maintain order in their distinctive orange “Da Vinci” hats and blue blazers. The P-rade ends when the senior class sprints onto Poe Field, charging past the Reviewing Stand.

In 1996, in celebration of the University’s bicentiquinquenary (250th anniversary), a spectacular fireworks display was first held on Saturday night. The thousands of shells, custom soundtrack, and tailored choreography of the 25-minute display quickly became a highlight and annual tradition during Reunions.

Increasing student body size and the inclusion of family members in the P-rade has swelled turnout and lively participation in the ever-more-colorful spectacle. Today, well over 20,000 alumni, family, and friends participate in this annual gathering, and no other university comes close to the pageantry, magnitude, and ceremony of Princeton Reunions.

This summary was prepared by the Committee on Reunions and is adapted from the research and writings of Alexander Leitch ’24, William K. Selden ’34, Daniel B. White ’65, J. T. Miller ’70, and Liz Greenberg ’02.

What will we learn? How do we "see" the invisible particles produced in violent collisions of protons at these energies? How do thousands of scientists from six continents work together effectively on the largest experiments ever constructed? In this talk we will attempt to answer these questions and more, while giving an overview of the project and its scientific goals. To 4:00 PM. Campus Exhibits

Carl A. Fields Center

Art Show on “The Street” “The Street,” as many so fondly refer to Prospect Avenue, remains central to Princeton University’s social happenings and became home to the Carl A. Fields Center for Equality and Cultural Understanding in fall 2009. Artworks by Princeton students and alumni are on view throughout the center, predominantly in the Clark Muñoz Gallery. Co-curated by Tayo Ogunbiyi ’06 and Kelly Rouser ’11, the exhibition features dozens of artists. 10:00 AM–5:00 PM, Thursday–Sunday. Sponsored by the Fields Center. Fields Center, 58 Prospect Avenue.

Firestone Library

André Hellé’s Toy Theater Today the French artist André Hellé is best known for having collaborated with Claude Debussy on a ballet for children, La boîte à joujoux. But as the exhibition shows, Hellé was fascinated by toys his entire career: not only did he design sets of wooden figures, but he also gave leading roles to his droll creations in many of his delightful picture books. Alumni families are also invited to relax and read in “Bookscape,” our public gallery for children. 9:00 AM–5:00 PM, Thursday–Sunday. Sponsored by the Cotsen Children’s Library. Firestone Library, Cotsen Children’s Library.

“The Author’s Portrait, ‘O, Could he but have drawne his Wit’”

This exhibition explores literary portraiture from 1500 to 2000 through bound frontispieces, paintings, sculpture, prints, drawings, photographs, and death masks. In this exhibition, visitors will find familiar faces such as the first Shakespeare folio engraving by Martin Droeshout; the Greek poet Homer engraved by Willem de Passe; the controversial Jean Chapelain by Robert Nanteuil; and Princeton’s celebrated John Milton pastel by William Faithorne, the Elder. 9:00 AM–5:00 PM, Thursday–Saturday. Sponsored by Firestone Library. Firestone Library, Main Gallery.

Clark Gesner ’60, creator of the musical You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown

This exhibition features ephemera, photographs, scores, and recordings from that production, and from Triangle Club productions during Gesner’s undergraduate years. 9:00 AM–5:00 PM, Thursday–Sunday. Sponsored by Firestone Library. Firestone Library.

“Envisioning the World: The First Printed Maps, 1472–1700”

Presenting approximately 30 rare world maps, drawn from the collection of Henry Wendt ’55, the exhibition explores ways in which scientists, mathematicians, explorers, and cartographers came to grips with the shape, size, and nature of the earth as a whole, and its place in the universe. An audio tour has been prepared especially for this exhibition. Also on display, from the holdings of the Department of Rare Books and Special Collections, will be “forbidden books” from two of the most influential figures in the history of science, Copernicus’s 1543 De revolutionibus orbium caelestium and Galileo’s 1632 Dialogo di Galileo Galilei, accompanied by planetary views from Andreas Cellarius’s “stellar” masterpiece, Harmonia Macrocosmica (1661). 9:00 AM–5:00 PM, Thursday–Saturday. Sponsored by Firestone Library. Firestone Library, Milberg Gallery.

Frist Campus Center

Sponsored by the Alumni Council Committee on Princetoniana. Frist Campus Center, display cases flanking main staircase on Level 100.

Lewis Center for the Arts

Spring End of Semester Exhibition Completed works by students in the visual arts program will be on view. The program introduces students to the studio arts in the context of a liberal education. Offering courses in painting, drawing, photography, film and video, sculpture, installation, and ceramics. 10:00 AM–4:30 PM, Thursday and Friday. Sponsored by the Lewis Center for the Arts. Lewis Center for the Arts, 185 Nassau Street.

Nassau Hall

“Inner Sanctum: Memory and Meaning in Princeton’s Faculty Room at Nassau Hall” A special in situ exhibition, organized by the Princeton University Art Museum and made possible by the Class of 1970 in celebration of its 40th Reunion, “Inner Sanctum” takes viewers inside Nassau Hall’s historic Faculty Room and examines its role as the symbolic center of Princeton and venerable repository of the University’s institutional memory. The exhibition and accompanying volume—featuring contributions by Toni Morrison, the Robert F. Goheen Professor in the Humanities, Emerita; Sean Wilentz, the Sidney and Ruth Lapidus Professor in the American Revolutionary Era; Eddie Glaude Jr., the William S. Tod Professor of Religion and African American Studies; Paul Muldoon, the Howard G. B. Clark ’21 University Professor in the Humanities; and project organizer Karl Kusserow, Associate Curator of American Art, Princeton University Art Museum—looks at how the room and its portraits reflect and help shape the University’s identity, exploring the changing function of the space and how the diverse portraits on its walls tell the evocative story of Princeton’s evolution from a small school of dissident theologians to the world-renowned research university it is today. 10:00 AM–5:00 PM, Friday and Saturday. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Nassau Hall, Faculty Room.

Princeton University Art Museum

“Architecture as Icon: Perception and Representation of Architecture in Byzantine Art” The exhibition will be the first of its kind devoted to the topic of Byzantine architectural representation, challenging long-held assumptions in Western art history and providing new ways of understanding Byzantine art and architecture from A.D. 300 to the early 19th century. Among the nearly 70 works on view will be seldom-seen objects and icons from 34 public and private collections in 11 countries, including the State History Museum in Erevan, Armenia; the State Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg, Russia; the Benaki Museum in Athens, Greece; and the National Museum of Art in Bucharest, Romania. Thursday 10:00 AM–10:00 PM, Friday and Saturday 10:00 AM–5:00 PM, and Sunday 1:00 PM–5:00 PM. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Princeton University Art Museum.

“A Royal Commission: François Boucher’s Water and Earth Reunited” Discover the puzzling history of two of François Boucher’s finest works, Arion on the Dolphin and Vertumnus and Pomona. Commissioned in the mid-18th century by Louis XV, these works symbolizing water and earth were originally intended as part of a series representing the Four Elements. Then why were the companion pieces of fire and air never executed? Why was the commission abandoned? Reunited for the first time in more than 20 years, these works, in conjunction with several loans and other holdings from the Princeton University Art Museum’s collection, give consideration to the mysteries surrounding one of France’s most successful painters. Thursday 10:00 AM–10:00 PM, Friday and Saturday 10:00 AM–5:00 PM, and Sunday 1:00 PM–5:00 PM. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Princeton University Art Museum.

A Scavenger Hunt: Noble Knights and Lovely Ladies Families are invited to visit the museum for a self-guided scavenger hunt through our newly refurbished galleries of medieval, Byzantine, and Islamic art in search of lovely ladies and their noble knights. Reunions participants are invited to stop by anytime during the museum’s regular hours: Thursday 10:00 AM–10:00 PM, Friday and Saturday 10:00 AM–5:00 PM, and Sunday 1:00 PM–5:00 PM. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Princeton University Art Museum.

“Pictures of Pictures” Devoted to the surprising and diverse tradition of nested imagery, “Pictures of Pictures” explores the ingenious way in which artists create one picture within another. Drawn from the Museum’s collections, the 50 objects in this exhibition include prints, photographs, collages, paintings, and sculptures, and span centuries, ranging from a 17th-century Alsatian still life of precious objects to a Japanese woodblock print of a merchant and his painted fans. The exhibition also casts fresh light on the postmodern practice of appropriation by placing classics of the genre side-by-side with their inspiration. “Pictures of Pictures,” with its examination of paintings of paintings, sculptures of sculptures, drawings of drawings, and photographs of photographs, comes together to offer an experience that is at once witty and profound. Friday and Saturday 10:00 AM–5:00 PM and Sunday 1:00 PM–5:00 PM. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Princeton University Art Museum.

The Question of Landscape A research exhibition using Chinese and Western landscape works from the 12th century to the present in an examination of what is meant by the term “landscape.” Is landscape a subject or theme to be represented as natural scenery or imagined geography? Does it show a location in time—past, present, or future—or is it timeless, placeless, or sometimes even without form? This exhibition begins research into concepts of land as embodied in the arts as experiences between man and environment. How do Chinese experiences and notions of land accord with artistic representations and aesthetic perceptions of actual or idealized landscapes? Do such concepts differ from the Western experience of landscape? Friday and Saturday 10:00 AM–5:00 PM and Sunday 1:00 PM–5:00 PM. Sponsored by the Princeton University Art Museum. Princeton University Art Museum.

Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library

“Princetonians in Print: 175 Years of Student Publications”

This exhibit celebrates the rich history of student publishing from the earliest issue of The Chameleon to today’s online newspapers. Drawing from the collections of the University Archives, the exhibit illustrates the creative, technical, and sometimes political forces that shape the landscape of student publications at Princeton. Highlights include the student work of F. Scott Fitzgerald ’17, and Pulitzer recipient Booth Tarkington, as well as a selection of historic campus news stories. Open Thursday and Friday: 9:00 AM–4:45 PM; Saturday: 9:00 AM–Noon. Continental breakfast served Saturday, 9:00 AM–Noon. Sponsored by the Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library. Seeley G. Mudd Manuscript Library, 65 Olden Street.

Campus Information

Alcohol Policy at Princeton University The University alcoholic beverage policy is designed to be consistent with the laws of the State of New Jersey and also reflects the need for mutual respect and personal responsibility within a diverse community. The University and Borough prohibit:

- Transporting of an open container of alcohol across common spaces of the University. (Common spaces are areas such as lounges, open campus, meeting halls, etc., outside of Reunions headquarters.)
- Possession of a container of alcohol by persons under the age of 21.
- Serving of alcohol to persons under the age of 21.

Persons found guilty of DWI charges are subject to substantial penalties, including fines and imprisonment. In addition, the Borough of Princeton prohibits the transporting of open containers of alcohol in public places, such as streets and sidewalks (including Prospect Avenue). Computing Resources During Reunions weekend, OIT provides Internet connectivity to all visitors on campus using the OIT Visitor Wireless Service, which requires no registration and is free of charge. For those who come without their personal laptops, centrally located computing facilities are available to you.

Getting Help While on Campus—Ask the Help Desk!

The OIT Help Desk (<http://kb.princeton.edu/3338>) is open around the clock for telephone support, e-mail support, and online chat, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. To speak with a Help Desk consultant, call 609-258-HELP (4357) and press option 1. For online chat, go to the OIT home page (www.princeton.edu/oit).

Wireless Networking Wireless networking is available throughout campus. A printable map that shows wireless coverage on campus can be found at: www.princeton.edu/wirelessmap.

Connecting to the Network and Configuring Your Computer

Please note that if your company uses a private Intranet network, you may not have access to it. Check with your local technical support prior to coming to Reunions for information about gaining access to your company’s computing resources from the Princeton network.

Windows Vista computers

- Click on the Start button, and then click Connect To
- Click on the puvisitor Wireless Network Connection

Windows XP and 2000 computers

- Click on the Start button
- Pull up to Connect To and select Show All Connections (in Windows 2000 or XP using the classic interface, pull up Settings and select Network Connections)
- Right-click on the Wireless Network Connection and select View Available Wireless Networks
- Select puvisitor from the list of available wireless networks
- Click the OK button

Mac OS X computers

- Open the Applications folder
- Open the Network option under System Preferences
- Click the Airport icon
- Select puvisitor from the network name pulldown menu

Troubleshooting—Are You in a Wireless Service Area?

Be sure you are in an area of the campus served by Visitor Wireless. Do you see a wireless network named puvisitor? If you can, then Visitor Wireless is available in your location. If you cannot, make sure that wireless connectivity on your computer is enabled, or move to a location where you are certain wireless is available.

Computing Facilities Available during Reunions There are several computing facilities (“clusters”) available for your use during the Reunions weekend. These machines will have a special Reunions configuration and will not require you to log in. You can simply visit one of the facilities listed below and gain access to the Internet. You can use these computers to check your e-mail (provided you have a Web-accessible e-mail interface), browse the Internet, and use Microsoft Office.

Reunions computer clusters will be located as follows:

- McCosh B59
- Friend 005, 007, and 009
- 1901 Cluster
- All OIT workstations in Frist

For more information on software and platforms available in these clusters, please see: www.princeton.edu/clusters.

Your Responsibilities It is especially important that the computer you attach to the campus network operates in such a way as to not interfere with the effective performance of the network. Because these devices will not be registered in the Princeton University Host Database, OIT will be unable to identify and notify their owners in the event they operate in ways that interfere with the campus network. This could make it difficult to address problems and restore network service to the rest of the campus in a timely fashion.

You can help minimize such problems by ensuring that the computer you bring to campus has all current security and definitions updates installed, is properly secured against intrusion, and has current antiviral software. In particular, you should not attach DHCP servers to the campus network.

While you are a customer of Princeton University’s network, you are expected to abide by the University’s information technology policies, available online at: www.princeton.edu/guidelines.

Lightning Storms: Emergency Preparedness Lightning is the second leading cause of direct weather deaths in the U.S. (after floods) and results in more fatalities each year than tornadoes and hurricanes combined. Given the random nature of lightning strikes, absolute protection cannot be guaranteed to any individual or group. Individuals are ultimately responsible for their personal safety and should take appropriate action when threatened by lightning. Adults must take responsibility for the safety of children in their care during thunderstorm activities. However, awareness of certain lightning safety guidelines can greatly reduce the risk of injury or death.

1. Identify in advance a location (e.g., building, bus, personal automobile) that would be safe during a thunderstorm. Locations that offer little or no protection from lightning include tents, golf carts, or open shelters, such as parking garages. Recommended locations for Reunions participants include dormitories of headquarters sites, Alexander Hall, the University Chapel, and the Frist Campus Center.
2. Public Safety will notify your reunion if a bad storm is expected and if evacuation of the headquarters site is recommended. When you first see lightning or hear thunder, go to the safe location immediately. Lightning often precedes rain; so don't wait for the rain to begin before suspending activities.
3. If you are caught outdoors, avoid high ground, open spaces, and water. Avoid all metal objects including electrical wires, fences, machinery, motors, and power tools. Avoid standing under reunion tents; while they provide protection from the rain, they do not provide protection from lightning. If lightning is striking nearby when you are outside, you should:
 - a. Crouch down and put your feet together. Place your hands over your ears to minimize hearing damage from thunder.
 - b. If part of a group, spread out. You should avoid being in close proximity (minimum of 15 ft.) to other people.
4. Suspend outdoor activities for at least 30 minutes after the last observed lightning flash or thunder clap or until your reunion receives the "All Clear" message from Public Safety.
5. Persons injured by a lightning strike do not carry an electrical charge and can be handled safely. Apply First Aid procedures to a lightning victim if you are qualified to do so. Call Public Safety Emergency 609-258-3333.

Lost and Found If you discover you have lost an item over the weekend, please check first with the student crew at your major reunion headquarters. The Office of the Alumni Association crew also collects lost and found items at Maclean House (609-258-3468). Shortly after Reunions, lost and found items will be moved to Public Safety and registered. You can check with the Department of Public Safety regarding your item at 609-258-1000.

Medical Services If you or your companions need assistance, medical help is available for bee stings, cardiac symptoms, or anything in between. Please program your cell phone with Public Safety's Emergency number 609-258-3333, or dial 911 from any blue light phone or campus landline. Dialing 911 on a cell phone routes to the nearest emergency call center and may slow emergency response time.

Orange Key Campus Tours Tours will be offered Thursday and Friday, at 11:15 AM, 1:00 PM, and 3:30 PM, leaving from the Admission Reception Area in Clio Hall (top floor).

Parking All entrances to the University will be closed to vehicles during Reunions. To access the campus shuttle, park cars in Lot UG Upper or Lot #21, next to Jadwin Gym. Accessible parking is available in Lot 23. Reserved parking is available in Lot 23 for the Old Guard and 65th Reunion. Please refer to the foldout 2010 Reunions Headquarters and Parking map for details.

P-rade The P-rade begins at 2:00 PM on Saturday. Alumni, spouses, and their children are welcome to march.

Be sure to check the P-rade map in this booklet, in your Reunions issue of the Princeton Alumni Weekly, or on posters at your major reunion headquarters site and around campus for the route and staging area for your class. Orange signs will also be posted along the route—or you can look for your classmates in their reunion costumes. Tiger Refreshments will have three concession locations along the P-rade route: the southeast corner of Alexander Beach, along Elm Drive; immediately southeast of Dillon Court East, along Elm Drive; and between Scully Hall and Icahn Laboratory.

This year's finale will be on Poe-Pardee fields. Parents of members of the Class of 2010 are encouraged to sit on the bleachers reserved for them at the Poe-Pardee finale for the best views and photos. At the end of the route, please help keep the P-rade moving!

Here are some additional suggestions that could help your major reunion win this year's Class of 1945 P-rade Trophy:

- Get to your staging area by 1:45 PM
- Wear your reunion costume
- Keep up with your class! Follow the banner and keep up with the people in front of you
- Carry very young children or use a stroller
- Keep moving while you are cheering the classes along the way and at the Reviewing Stand

Public Safety The Department of Public Safety is located at 200 Elm Drive and can be reached at 609-258-1000. Emergency calls can be made from any blue light campus or wall mounted emergency phone, by pressing the red emergency button, or by pressing 9-1-1. If making an emergency call for a campus emergency from a cell phone, dial 609-258-3333. Dialing 911 on a cell phone goes to Mercer County for routing and significantly slows emergency response time.

Reunions Mobile Throughout Reunions, you can quickly access helpful information—from breaking news to scheduled events, from transportation schedules to P-grade staging sites—on your Web-enabled phone. Just navigate to <http://m.princeton.edu/reunions> on your smartphone or other handheld device.

There are four main shuttle routes:

- Central Line (Main Campus)
- East Line (Lot 21/Princeton Stadium)
- Forbes Line
- Grad College Line

Note that because of special events, area construction, and traffic, shuttles may need to be rerouted and routes combined. Real-time shuttle tracker is available through Reunions Mobile, <http://m.princeton.edu/reunions>
